These kids fucking suck at pop culture and oddly know nothing about video games to be on a video game based show.

NORTH KOREA-

I've been watching a lot of documentaries on North Korea the past few weeks, most are British news pieces typically focusing on the illegal crossings into China or the orphaned children of the Stalinist state. Even those that manage to escape into China are subject to deportation and "repatriation"/ death.

If you'd like to know more or help charities such as-

<http://www.helpinghandskorea.org/>

can help you in the right direction. FACTOID; because of the massive famine the average North Korean is 5-6 inches shorter than their southern cousins. Having been to Korea I can tell you Koreans are fucking small to start with. So we're talking tiny.

He does make those Gucci glasses look good though.

SIDENOTE:

When the regime crumbles there will be 20 million people, mostly illiterate, suddenly freed. It will be a humanitarian disaster and a time warp to 1950's Russia.

This used to scare the shit out of me. The possibilities that parents might be on drugs always gave me the idea that a drug induced 28 days later like scenario was right around the corner.

He-Man and the Masters of the Universe-

Watching this again after twenty some years I can only imagine how the writers wrote this. It would have been the early early 80's so drugs were still chic. Anyway, it reminds me of a drug induced, flu infected, childhood dream.

P.S. Skeletor is pretty fabulous too. He makes Paul Lynde look conservative.

NEW YORK (AP) — A peacock that roamed into the parking lot of a Burger King in New York City was beaten by a man who insisted it was a vampire.

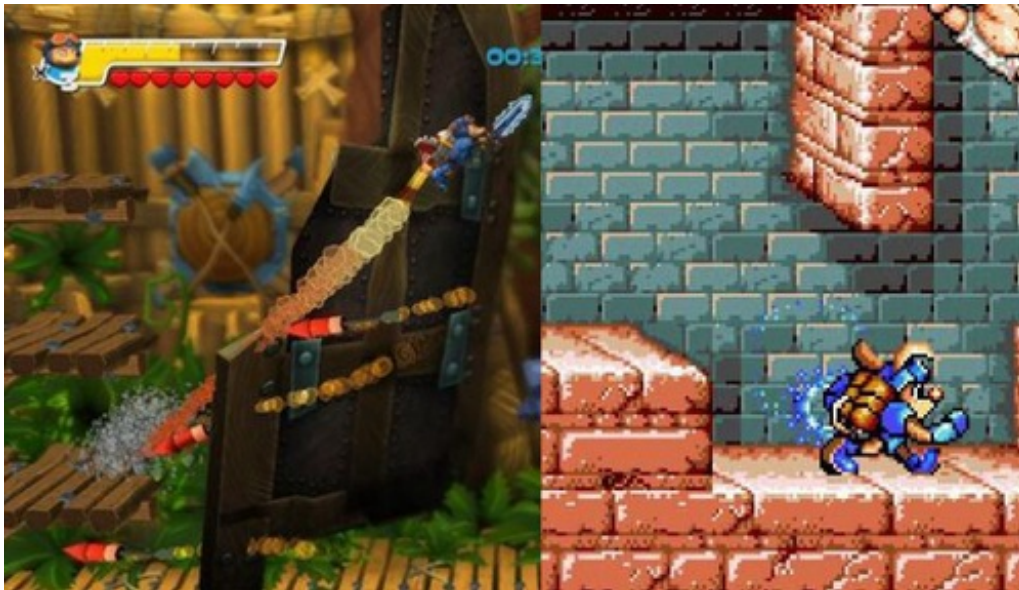

Animal control officials in Staten Island say the bird was beaten so fiercely that most of its tail feathers fell out and it had to be euthanized.

The seven-year-old male peacock wandered into the restaurant parking lot and perched on a car hood last week. Charmed employees had been feeding it bread when the man appeared.

A restaurant worker says the man grabbed the bird by the neck, hurled it to the ground and started stomping it. She says when he was asked what he was doing, he responded, "I'm killing a vampire!"

Employees called police, but the man ran when he saw them. E-mail to a friend

It was awesome, probably about 3k people showed up.

The greatest scam ever told.

As piracy and shitty movies destroy the film industry there is a last hope, an ace in the hole to resurrect the industry from the ashes; 3D. 3D is complete bullshit, a renaissance set upon by greed and a want to make more money. It is not an artistic endeavor, a means to tell a story better or anything you might here dribbling from the mouths of industry. It's simply so that they can raise ticket costs and save their own asses while making millions on dumbasses that want to see re-releases in shitty, post processed 3D. Welcome to the decline of the film industry, instead of a new, unique master pieces, we're going to have shitty re-releases like Paul Blart in 3D. Welcome to the grave remaining art in the film industry, your foot goes here.
